2022-2023 States Cup Chess Tournament

Siva Sankrithi

Two years ago, the idea for a States Chess Cup pitting players from across our great nation was born. Teams of four from each state would compete against teams from other states in a G15|2 format where each player would play each of the four players from the other state. The average rating of the four players on each team must be under 2200. Team Washington, facilitated by Captain Jacob Mayer, proved victorious each of the last two seasons! This year, Jacob has taken over as commissioner for the league and added another division, one where the average of the four players on the team must be under 1800. The 2200 matches are Tuesday evenings, and the 1800 matches are Wednesday evenings, both streamed live by local Candidate Master Tim Moroney on his channel twitch.tv/slothyChess. Rounds one and two see the top boards of each team face the bottom boards of the other team. Upsets in those early rounds often set the tone for the match ahead. Rounds three and four see the upper boards play one another and the lower boards play one another.

Week One

Week One (Tuesday November 1, 2022) saw the Washington U2200 team faceoff against a tough team from Nevada, led by National Masters Mike Zaloznyy and Tom Brownscombe, and supported by Josh Quint and Eric Wilson. We ran a lineup of State Champion WIM Megan Lee, fresh off her success at the US Women's Championship, HI State Champion Michael Omori back in Washington, Advaith Vijayakumar, and Alec Beck. Washington started strong round one with everyone holding serve, with a successful draw from Advaith vs NM Tom giving us the 2.5-1.5 edge. Round two proved decisive. Incredibly, both Advaith and Alec, with the black pieces, upset the Nevada NMs for a 4-0 round and a 6.5-1.5 edge. Ultimately the match finished 12.5-3.5 in Team Washington's favor. Megan scored a perfect four in her States Chess Cup debut, Michael and Advaith finished with three, and Alec finished with 2.5. It was truly a great start as we begin our quest to threepeat!

Week One (Wednesday November 2, 2022) saw the Washington U1800 team make its debut against fellow NW Chess friends Idaho. In this clash of Northwest titans, team Washington fielded a team of Paul Lazarte, Vihaan Jammalamadaka, Ted Shi, and Siva Sankrithi, yours truly. Idaho fielded a team of Niall McKenzie, Northwest Chess editor Jeff Roland, Adam Porth, and Jamie Lang. After the first two rounds, Washington led 5-3, with Ted scoring a point with white against Jeff. Round three proved decisive here with team Washington scoring 3.5-0.5 and ultimately taking the match 10.5-5.5. I think this match saw lots of positives for both Northwest Chess teams moving forward. Idaho board one Niall played brilliantly and got 3.5 points. Paul, Vihaan, and Ted all scored three for team Washington and I got 1.5. Moving forward, this team and this U1800 league as a whole will likely showcase a nice balance of competitive club playing adults and rising young stars who may not

1.d4 g6 2.c4 Bg7 3.Nc3 c5!? 4.Nf3

4.d5 looks like the only real attempt at advantage, but can lead to interesting and complex play, no doubt much more familiar to the well-prepared player of the black pieces. 4...Bxc3+! 5.bxc3 f5!? (5...Nf6 6.Qc2 d6 7.e4±) 6.h4 (or 6.e4 fxe4 7.f3 d6 8.fxe4) 6...Nf6 7.h5 Rg8 8.hxg6 hxg6 9.Qa4!±, but we've only just scratched the surface.

4...cxd4 5.Nxd4 Nc6 6.e3

The "principled" 6.Nc2 might run into 6...Bxc3+ 7.bxc3 Qa5∞.

6...Nf6 7.g3

Now, as far as I know, we're on our own. Theory continues 7.Be2 0-0 8.0-0 d6 (8...d5!?) 9.b3.

7...0-0

7...d5!?

8.Bg2 a6?!

Apparently played to allow a quick ...Qc7, but it's not at all clear that this is a good post for the queen. There have been opportunities for ...Qa5, for example, and if Black plans ...Bh3 at some point, the queen will certainly need to reposition to d7 after bringing out the c8-bishop. On c7, meanwhile, it is a target for Rc1/Nd5

1.d4 d5 2.c4 Bf5?!

Better the mainstream 2...e6; 2...c6; or 2...dxc4.; As surprise weapons, 2...Nc6; and 2...e5 have some theoretical (heretical?) legitimacy.

3.Nc3

There may be a refutation of Black's dubious opening in the line beginning 3.cxd5 Bxb1 4.Qa4+, but it's definitely reasonable to develop and control the center.

3...e6 4.e3

4.Bf4!?!; 4.cxd5 exd5 5.Qb3 Nc6! 6.Nf3 Nf6 7.Bg5 (7.e4 is a possible adventure for the very well-prepared—but why spend your preparation time in such an obscure opening?) 7...Na5 8.Qa4+ c6

9.Bxf6 gxf6 10.e3 Qb6 11.0-0-0 0-0-0 12.Bd3[∞] has been seen.

4...Nc6?!

Black's d5-pawn can come under fire. 4...c6

5.a3 Nf6 6.Bd2 Be7 7.Nf3 0-0 8.Be2 Ne4 9.0-0 Nxd2 10.Nxd2 Bg6?

10...Bf6 11.g4 Bg6 12.f4± (After 12.cxd5 exd5 13.Qb3, Stockfish suggests the speculative (for a human) piece sacrifice (13.Bf3 Ne7, note the difference between this and the game retreat...Bg6—the e7-square is cleared.) 13...Bxd4!?, though evaluations tend to be slightly in favor of White.)

11.cxd5 exd5 12.f4

This is energetic. White definitely gains space and some kingside play but leaves a long-term potential weakness on e3. Perhaps a more dependable edge is found in 12.Bf3, simply winning the d-pawn. 12...Bd6 13.Bxd5 Ne7 14.Bxb7 Rb8 15.Be4 looks quite good for White.

12...Bf5 13.g4

Or 13.Qb3±.

13...Be6 14.f5 Bc8 15.Bf3 Bg5 16.Re1

16.Nxd5 Ne7 17.Nxe7+ Qxe7 18.e4?! Be3+ 19.Kh1 Bxd4. is definitely not what White wants.

16...Ne7 17.Qe2?!

17.Bg2± intending Nf3.

17...Re8?!

Black should begin breaking up the kingside pawn mass in order to effectively activate the c8-bishop. 17...g6; or 17...h5.

18.Qf2

White plans more kingside expansion—incidentally threatening to win a piece—with h4.

18...f6

Stockfish actually prefers giving up the bishop: 18...c6 19.h4 Bf6 20.g5 Bxg5 21.hxg5 Nxf5, though White's extra piece should still weigh more heavily in this middlegame.

19.Qg2?

Beginning a strange (and unintentional) triangulation. 19.e4! Bxd2 20.Qxd2 dxe4 21.Nxe4± White has space, but the king looks a little airy. Black still needs to solve the c8-bishop.; White's intent, presumably, was 19.Qg3 directly, keeping control of h4. The game tactic that shows up next move is still unsound for Black (actually it's even more so): 19...Nxf5 20.gxf5 Bxe3+ 21.Rxe3 Rxe3 22.Bxd5++-. Black should probably sit tight with 19...c6, when nothing is entirely clear.

19...c6 20.Qg3?

Going back to the defense of the d4-pawn, thus planning the central advance e4, may be White's objectively best plan. 20.Qf2 g6 21.e4 dxe4 22.Ndx4 gxf5 23.Nxg5 f5 24.d5[∞]

20...Nxf5?

Black initiates tactics, but has missed the kicker at the end. Time to start undermining those kingside pawns. 20...g6 21.h4 Bh6 22.fxg6 Nxg6 23.Nf1[∞]

21.gxf5

Position after 21.gxf5

21...Bxe3+?

A better chance is 21...Rxe3, although White still has a clear edge after 22.Nf1 (Less clear is 22.Bxd5+ Qxd5!, though there are still some nice tactics: 23.Nxd5 (or 23.Rxe3 Qxd4 24.Nf1±) 23...Rxc3+ 24.hxc3 Bxd2 25.Nc7! Bxe1 26.Rxe1!±) 22...Rxe1 23.Rxe1 Bxf5 24.Ne3±.

22.Rxe3! Rxe3 23.Bxd5+! cxd5 24.Qxe3 Bxf5 25.Re1 Qd7 26.Qe7 Qc6 27.Nf3

27.Qc5

27...Bd7 28.Qc5 Re8?

Black should be avoiding exchanges on principle. (When behind material, tend to exchange pawns and not pieces.)

29.Rxe8+ Bxe8
30.Qxd5+ Qxd5
31.Nxd5 Kf7
32.Nc7 Bc6 33.d5

Week Two

Week Two (Wednesday November 9, 2022) saw the Washington U2200 team faceoff against California South, arguably co-favorites in our division led by 2512 IM Robert Shlyakhtenko and NMs Karl Tolentino and Tommy Wen, with Yash Vora on board four. We went with a balanced lineup of our NM veteran leaders from the last two seasons, Kyle Haining and Derek Zhang, with Polgar National Champion NM Daniel Shubin and expert Ananth Gottumukkala on three and four.

We got off to an early lead in round one with Daniel scoring the upset with White against NM Karl. California-South rebounded in round two, with their IM and NMs all winning bringing us to 4-4 at the half. The highlight of round three was Ananth scoring an upset with the black pieces against NM Tommy to give us a 7-5 lead heading into the final round. Ananth finished strong with a second consecutive win to clinch at least a tie for Team Washington. 8-5. Robert then beat Kyle to finish a perfect 4.0/4 for team California-South. 8-6 Washington. Daniel scored another upset to give us the team win! Wow! Incredible stuff from Daniel on board three, scoring victories over two NMs and earning Team Washington 3.0/4 points. Derek scored a final round win too to move to 3.0/4 and close the match with an incredible 10-6 Washington win! Bravo! Next week, on Tuesday, we'll play another very strong historic team, California-North.

Week Two (Wednesday November 9, 2022) saw the Washington U1800 team faceoff against Nevada, the same state we faced in the 2200 division in week

one. We ran a super strong lineup led by experts Advait Vijayakumar and Alec Beck, who played boards three and four for the 2200 team last week. Young up and comers Wade Sues and Kai Pisan played on three and four. Nevada played 1900 players Eric Wilson and Jonathan Zavala on one and two, and Menachem Dorfman and Aidan Monaghan on three and four. Washington got off to a huge 3.5-0.5 start with Wade scoring the upset with White and Kai scoring a draw. Round two saw continued good form, with Wade scoring another upset with Black this time, giving us a 6.5-1.5 lead. In round three, Wade and Kai both drew and our experts continued their perfect scores, giving us a 9.5-2.5 lead headed into the final round, ensuring we win the match. Advait and Alec both win again to finish the day 4.0/4 on boards one and two! Bravo! Wade and Kai finished with impressive 2.5/4 and 2.0/4 results on boards three and four. Overall the team scored a strong 12.5-3.5 victory. Bravo! Next week, on Wednesday, we'll play our fellow Northwest Chess friends from Oregon! Stay tuned!

Norman Friedman Memorial And National Chess Day

Adam Porth

Memorable tournaments are a staple with the Idaho Chess Association, and this was what we produced for the 2022 Norman Friedman Memorial Tournament. Organizers decided to begin rotating the NFM to different regions so that all of Idaho can benefit from high caliber chess. This year, it was held in Coeur d'Alene with 30 people playing chess, 28 competitively in the US Chess rated section.

The CDA Library is an excellent venue, however library hours are stringent and not very accommodating, so the tournament was actually held in two different venues, the library and Holiday Inn Express. I am always pleased to have flexible chess players that don't complain at a whim! Rating the tournament was held up as I waited for a birthday to update for one of the players — US Chess database had one player born in 1900! Again, chess players patience prevails as we finally got this rated by Thursday.

NM Jason Cigan traveled to play and enjoyed the tournament format which I believe was a first for everyone. The tournament progressed from blitz rounds to long classic rounds. Round one was a double round G/5, Round two G/10, Round three G/30, Round four G/45, Round five G/60, and Round six was G/90. Gregory Callen said, "this is the first time I've played at two different venues and the first time I have played in a tournament with different time controls."

The Norman Friedman Memorial is in its sixth year and is sponsored by family and friends of Norman. Norman was an avid chess player and represented the United States in a Russian Tournament for Senior Masters. He was also Vice President of the Manhattan Chess Club, Co-founder of The Right Move, and has supported chess for at-risk youth, prison chess, and many chess clubs, including the Wood River High School Chess Club where this tournament has its roots. Mr. Friedman was a veteran paratrooper, marathon runner, and an amazing entrepreneur and person. This memorial tournament has provided a boost to many chess players and lots of prize money over the years and has kept the memory of the thousands of players he has impacted alive.

Detective Cookie Chess Park Grand Opening

Josh Sinanan

Saturday September 24 marked the highly anticipated Grand Opening of the Detective Cookie Chess Park in the Rainier Beach community of South Seattle. Several hundred people from all walks of life gathered to celebrate the momentous event, which has been years in the making.

It all began back in 2006, when Seattle Police Detective Denise “Cookie” Bouldin started a chess club for the Rainier Beach youth. It was and continues to be her belief that the game of chess serves well as a metaphor for life’s important decisions. Over the years, Detective Cookie’s Chess Club has provided a haven and created opportunities for neighbors of all ages to interact and build community through chess. September 24’s grand opening honors Detective Cookie’s vision to carry forth the positive momentum of her work. Community leaders and volunteers formed the Friends of Detective Cookie Chess Park (FDCCP). Thanks to their dedicated work, we celebrate this permanent chess park and community gathering space, the first of its kind in the Pacific Northwest.

The mission of the Detective Cookie Chess Park is to improve the health and wellbeing of children and families in Rainier Beach through the game of chess.

Over the course of the four-hour celebration starting around 12 noon, chess players and supporters of the Detective Cookie Chess Park gathered on the corner of South Barton Place and Rainier Avenue in South Seattle to officially open the chess park to the community! The event featured free food (including a McDonald’s food truck!), good company, and of course plenty of chess! VIP speakers included Maia Segura (Community Activist & Originator of Chess Park Idea), Erin Lau (Chair of Friends of Detective Cookie Chess Park Steering Committee), Jabril Hassan (Chess Club Alum), Adrian Diaz (Seattle Chief of Police), Bruce Harrell (Mayor of Seattle), and Denise Bouldin (Detective Cookie). The official Ribbon Cutting Ceremony kicked off the Grand Opening following remarks from the VIP speakers, a performance by the Northwest Tap Connection, and a special visit from the Buffalo Soldiers on horseback!

Chess players had a choice between playing on the chess park concrete tables, chess booth tables under a tent, and a giant chess board located in the middle of the park. Complimentary food and refreshments were served to all attendees, courtesy of McDonalds and the Seattle Police Department. Local chess organizers in attendance included

Seattle Chess Club President John Selsky, and WCF officers Chouchanik Airapetian (Women’s and Girls Director), Ani Barua (Member-at-Large), Valentin Razmov (Tournament Coordinator), Gabriel Razmov (Junior Liaison), and Josh Sinanan (President). Photographer and videographer extraordinaires Meiling Cheng and Otis Smith captured a plethora of amazing photos and videos of the festivities throughout the afternoon.

The Detective Cookie Chess Park has succeeded in large part due to the efforts of the Steering Committee members Erin Lau (Chair), Yvette Dinish, Virginia Fullwood, Jo’Ana Fry, Dave Merrill, Patricia Killam, and Cinda Lium. Many thanks to the sponsors of the Detective Cookie Chess Park Grand Opening for their generous support: Buffalo Soldiers, McDonalds, Seattle Police Department, and Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT).

Several news outlets (CNN, King5 News, Seattle Medium, Seattle SDOT Blog, Seattle Times, South Seattle Emerald) were present at site and covered the Grand Opening extensively.

Gary Dorfner

Bill Rogers

The Tacoma Chess Club regrets to announce the death of Gary Dorfner (1947-2022)—a long-time chess player, tournament director, and resident of Tacoma Washington, passed away in his home September 28, 2022 of natural causes.

In 1978 I was assigned to McChord Air Force Base Washington. With the assistance of a taxicab driver, I found the location of the Tacoma Chess Club. At the time, there were about ten chess players all deeply involved in their games. I remember being greeted by a guy with a full scruffy beard. He was wearing a grey vest, and on his back read Tacoma Chess Club in bold white letters. This was my first encounter with Gary, and the first of many more years to come.

Over the years, I learned he went to elementary school at Briscoe Memorial School in Kent Washington, which operated as a Catholic orphanage and boarding school for boys around the Puget Sound region (1909-1970). Gary had said that Robert A Karch (former editor of Northwest Chess for many years) also went to the same school as he did, but Robert was three or four years older than Gary and was in higher grades. Most likely Gary went on to Lincoln High School as did Robert. I think this is where he learned to play chess and developed a love for the game.

I am not sure when Gary joined the Tacoma Chess Club, but his enthusiasm to help the club by volunteering must have been received with open arms. Gary recognized the need for club players to have competitive tournaments, but the club didn't have a tournament director. It seems everyone likes to play chess, but no one wants to run a chess tournament. So, Gary studied chess rules for a couple of weeks, and took the US Chess tournament director test. He passed and found his calling. Now, with Gary's help future chess tournament players in the club would be paired up according to their rating, and tie breakers would be determined among winners. All this was accomplished without the use of computers. Gary continued this position for the next 50 years. In addition, Gary assisted other TD's in Seattle like Fred Kleist.

Gary was the driving force for having a chess booth in the hobby hall at the Western Washington State Fair in Puyallup. Often it was hard to get club members to help man the booth, so he was stuck doing it by himself. One time he fell asleep, and that was the end of the club's chess booth. About five years later, I spoke to the staff at the hobby hall about The Tacoma Chess Club having a gaming booth every day for fair goers. They agreed, but our chess booth was very small and only space for one large plastic set. It drew a crowd and the following year the Tacoma Chess Club had a booth large enough to accommodate four chess sets. Again, we were a hit drawing in a crowd. This went on for twelve years with my wife and me setting up the booth and for the most part manning the booth every day of the fair. As with Gary, I too found a lack of club members willing to volunteer their time to play chess games with the fair goers. Gary was the exception. He always helped at the Tacoma Chess Club booth as often as he was able.

Many times, while at the fair, Gary would go over to the cribbage club and play cribbage with them. I think he must have been pretty good at it, as he often returned to the chess booth with a certificate indicating he beat one of their club players. Gary played many other card games such as Pinochle, and Dungeons and Dragons. Gary had a love for baseball. He collected baseball cards for years. His favorite baseball team is of course the Seattle Mariners. I guess you would say Gary was always first to step up to the plate and help the chess club. In the years that I knew him he had been a continuous board member in the Tacoma Chess Club; he held the position as club librarian, he maintained a log as to when your club dues were due, gave out a membership card when you were in good standing—when you paid. Chess books which were donated to the club were sold by him and money was turned over to the club's treasurer. Gary was appointed the club historian, primarily because he was the oldest member of the club. I had seen this conglomeration, and I am sorry to say much history had been lost because it was not maintained. Nevertheless, it was maintained to the best of his ability. Gary was often the greeter when someone new came into the club. Before COVID, he made coffee in the club's coffee pot for the club. As it turns out, Gary was an icon for the Tacoma Chess Club. He was highly recognizable as the guy with the beard and Tacoma Chess Club vest. For the many years Gary contributed to our club, the board members unanimously voted to make him an honorary member (free membership for life).

Most club members don't know Gary was quite religious. He was a member of the Saint Ann Catholic Church now named The Pope John Paul 23 in Tacoma. Gary would tell you faith is the victory that overcomes this world. In addition, he was a member of The Knights of Columbus. This is a fraternal society for catholic men.

Gary is survived by his cousin Chris and Dennis Holmstrom of Puyallup, and I think he also has another cousin who lives in Gig Harbor Washington. Two cats named Penny and Sylvester also shared their house with Gary.

Who will keep the Tacoma Chess Club going? It's hard to imagine the club functioning without his dedicated help.

Remembering Gary

I remember my first tournament in the fall of 1972 at the Tacoma Chess Club. Gary was there, but as a player, not a director. At the time I had no inkling he would continue to be involved with chess for another 50 years.

To my knowledge Gary never drove and attended WCF meetings by using public transportation, often having to make long journeys. He was a dedicated servant of chess who put in long hours. The Tacoma Chess Club will not be the same without him.

2022 Washington G/60 Championship

Josh Sinanan

The 2022 Washington G/60 Championship took place at the Orlov Chess Academy in Seattle on National Chess Day, Saturday, October 8. Chess players from throughout Washington State, including the cities of Redmond, Sammamish, Bothell, Seattle, Snoqualmie, Brier, Mountlake Terrace, Bellevue, Zillah, Kirkland, and Fall City were represented in the 30-player field! Legendary Senior tournament director Fred Kleist directed the one-day, four-round Swiss tournament. The field featured a youthful mix of just nine adults and 21 scholastic chess players.

US Chess Expert Tim Moroney from Mountlake Terrace and Seattle Chess Club wizard Leonid Gavrish from Brier emerged victorious, each with a perfect four points from four games! Along the way, Moroney scored victories against youngsters Arnav Gadde and Gabriel Razmov, before facing the adult ringer Akiva Notkin in the final round. Gavrish faced a similar slate of up-and-coming junior players, scoring the full point against Vladimir Fedorov and Odbayar Yondon in rounds one and three, respectively.

Three players shared third U2000/U1800 honors, each with three points: Saiya Karamali from Seattle, Odbayar Yondon from Redmond, and Akiva Notkin from Seattle. Chad Fondren from Sammamish and Leonardo Wang from Fall City split the U1600 prize a half-point back with 2.5 points. Newcomers Roberto Bojorquez and Alejandro Plancarte, both from Bothell, shared the Unrated prize also with 2.5 points. Lakeside Middle School student Soham Sharma from Seattle and high school chess stud Luke Dale from Snoqualmie took home the first U1400/U1200 prize with two points apiece.

2022 Washington G/15 Championship

By Josh Sinanan

The Washington G/15 Championship was held on Sunday, October 9 at the Orlov Chess Academy in Seattle. A total of 19 chess gladiators competed in the six-round US Chess Quick Rated tournament under the direction of Senior TD Fred Kleist. The format consisted of a single Open section featuring a diverse roster of players ranging in level from unrated to master.

Local speed chess specialist Leonid Gavrish, originally from Ukraine but now based in Brier, swept the tournament with a perfect six points from six games! Gavrish impressively finished two full points ahead of the field and defeated his nearest rivals National Master Daniel Shubin and WCF Tournament Coordinator Valentin Razmov on his way to the title. A quintuplet of players shared second/third/U2000/U1800/U1600 honors, each with four points: NM Daniel Shubin from Redmond, Valentin Razmov from Seattle, Edward Cheng from Seattle, Kai Pisan from Woodinville, and Leonardo Wang from Fall City.

Bellevue chess phenom Kenneth Yuodelis earned the U1400 prize a half-point back after a tense fourth round draw against Leonardo Wang. Five players tied for the first U1200 prize with an even three points from six games: Ani Barua from Capitol Hill, Balbir Singh from Seatac, Zachary Chao from Seattle, Selina Cheng from Seattle, and Luke Dale from Snoqualmie. Newcomer Kiann Skkandann from Bellevue scanned the board well and captured the unrated prize also with three points. Congratulations to the winners, and many thanks to all who contributed to this fun event!

The Washington Blitz Championship took place on the evening of Sunday, October 9 at the Orlov Chess Academy in Seattle in the wake of the WA G/15 Championship. A diverse coterie of players was represented in the 19-player field, from cities including Seattle, Bellevue, Snoqualmie, Brier, Redmond, Edmonds, Seatac, Fall City, and Medina. The seven-round double Swiss tournament lasted just over three hours and featured players with blitz ratings ranging from unrated to expert level. The chess action was fast and furious, with numerous exciting and entertaining games throughout the evening!

Redmond speed chess wizard and blitz aficionado Vihaan Jammalamadaka emerged victorious with an impressive 12.5 points from 14 games. Vihaan split only one match with Leonid Gavrish and allowed a last-round draw against Gabriel Razmov to secure the tournament victory. Leonid Gavrish from Brier, a small suburb next to Lynnwood, and Edward Cheng from Detective Cookie's Chess School in Seattle tied for second/third place with ten points after splitting their head-to-head match in the third round. A trio of Seattleites shared first U2000/U1800/U1600 honors with eight points apiece: Valentin Razmov, Saiya Karamali, and young Selina Cheng. Gabriel Razmov, Valentin's son, captured the first U1400 prize with 7.5 points. Michelle Zhang from Medina earned the first U1200 prize with 6.5 points despite being paired "up" in nearly every round. Salyh Saryyev from Redmond won the unrated prize with an impressive eight points and finished the tournament without dropping a single two-game match! Thanks to the players who came out and competed in these fun events!

Took The Train To Spokane

“A Blast From The Past!”

Karen Schmidt

I have recently given up playing in Novice (U1200) tournaments in Seattle because there seemingly are no more novices. As my US Chess rating went down and down over the past few months, I realized that UNR (unrated) players now average about a 1600 skill level. Most of the guys I have played took up chess during COVID and have spent countless hours playing chess on chess.com and Lichess, as well as watching online tutorials, and taking private Zoom chess lessons from Masters! Not to mention that half the players in Seattle are seven-to-12-year-olds who have master-level private coaches, US chess ratings of 600, but scholastic ratings of 1650. My new plan became playing in larger one- or two-day tournaments, with a goal of beating some 1300-1500-rated players and boosting my rating over time. (Instead of losing to “unrateds” and watching my rating continue to plummet.)

So, I recently planned a train trip to Spokane to visit chess friends there, and also to play in the Eastern Washington Open on September 24-25. I have been a Seattleite since leaving Yakima to attend the University of Washington at the age of 18. I have been wanting to visit Spokane again for years. When I was a kid my family went to Spokane every summer on our way to Lake Coeur d’Alene, where friends of my parents had a cabin on the lake. My cousins, aunt, and uncle lived on Grand Avenue in Spokane, and we visited them on the way to the lake every summer.

Some of my early and favorite memories of Spokane are Natatorium Park (especially the roller coaster and the carousel), Manito Park, and lots of sun and pine trees. On the Friday before and the Monday after the tournament, we had time to do some sightseeing around Spokane: the Spokane River and Falls; downtown; Gonzaga; the Valley; Manito Park (Rose Garden, Japanese Garden and Conservatory) and drives through various neighborhoods. We even drove by my cousins’ former home on Grand Avenue — still red, and in great condition.

My Spokane chess friends, John and Cecelia, run “The Inland Chess Academy” — a non-profit which provides chess coaches in many public and private elementary schools in and around Spokane. I was able to observe two after-school chess clubs while I was there and learn a bit about how The Inland Chess Academy works. (I am coaching three after-school chess clubs in Seattle this fall for ChessMates, so I was eager to compare notes and observe a couple chess club sessions.)

I was quite interested to see what a tournament in Spokane would be like. We arrived at the charming tournament venue Saturday morning — the West Central Abbey in the north end. The tournament took place in a church fellowship hall in an older residential neighborhood. According to a neighbor (who chatted my ear off), the church is the second oldest in Spokane.

This was a five-round Swiss tournament over two days, with a time control of G/120;d5. As we arrived Saturday morning, everyone in the tournament hall was super friendly. There was free coffee and cookies for all. Also, much to my surprise, there were no kids playing! NOT to my surprise, Cecelia and I were the only females in a field of 20.

My games were all challenging and long—the longest being four hours in round two. My 1600-rated opponent got a checkmate with 28 seconds to spare on his clock. I had about three minutes left on my clock. I only came away with one win (in round one against a 1500-rated player), but it resulted in the “biggest upset” prize worth $30! Although all my opponents were rated several hundred points above me, I found all of them to have good sportsmanship as well as being excellent players. The overall atmosphere was very friendly and welcoming. It was a nice change of pace from large and intense tournaments in Seattle.

I hope to return to Spokane soon for another visit and tournament. I know that several Seattle players travel to Spokane each year for the annual Collyer Tournament. My visit felt like a “blast from the past,” and I had a great time in sunny Spokane. I hope I will see some of the Spokane, Idaho, and Montana players at Seattle tournaments in the future.

2022 Eastern Idaho Open

(Unrated Jeremy Thomas Wins)

Jay Simonson

In the best-attended Eastern Idaho Open chess tournament in several years, 34 players vied for top honors in this annual tournament on September 24, 2022, at ISU's Student Union Building, Salmon River Suites, in Pocatello Idaho, under the tournament direction of ICA's Jay Simonson. They came from several cities in Idaho, two came from Utah, one came all the way from Virginia, and one even came from Canada.

Going into the final round four, there were four players tied with three points each: Our current Idaho State Chess Champion, Kaustubh Kodihalli, of Boise, Idaho; winner of the Top Unrated Prize at the 2022 Idaho Open Chess Championship, Raul Villacorta, of Rexburg, Idaho; former Eastern Idaho Open winner, Gary Owen, of Preston, Idaho; and Unrated Jeremy Thomas, of Pocatello, Idaho. This set up the penultimate matchup of Raul vs Kaustubh, and Jeremy vs Gary. Raul, a Class C player, and Kaustubh, the reigning Idaho Chess Champion fought a tough battle that ended in a draw.

All eyes were then focused on the battle between Jeremy Thomas and Gary Owen. Toward the end of the game, for a time, it looked like it might end up as a draw as well, which would have resulted in a four-way tie for first place. But Jeremy was able to promote to a queen, and after some very challenging and tough play was able to convert his advantage to a win.

Congratulations and Well Done to Jeremy! He collected the first prize of $100. Kaustubh won second place on tie breaks and collected $50. Raul Villacorta won $50 for claiming top honors of Class C. Despite his super-strong play and giving the winner a real run for his money, Gary Owen finished just out of the prizes.

The top players in Class B, C, D, E, and Unrated each won $50 for their efforts. Dewayne Derryberry, of Pocatello, Idaho, was Top Class B. As noted above, Raul Villacorta won Top Class C. Tilly Backstrom, of Idaho Falls, Idaho, and currently attending the College of Idaho, in Caldwell, Idaho, was the Class D winner. Class E winner was William Miller, of Rexburg, Idaho, and the Top Unrated honors (besides the clear winner of the tournament) went to Silvino Balderama Prieto, of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

This was a great tournament, with a very fine outcome, even though it started out rather rocky. First, uncharacteristically, the tournament director was late getting to the tournament location. Then, there were no less than ten people who were either not US Chess members, or there was a problem with their US Chess membership. The TD and the players were able to work through most all of these challenges, but one player who now lives in Idaho Falls, but formerly lived in New Mexico, slipped through the cracks with a US Chess membership which expired in 2010. For a few days, the TD could not connect with the player to resolve the matter. When the connection was finally accomplished, the TD discovered that the reason for the lack of response was the player was in the hospital with his wife who was giving birth to a new baby. All is well now!

Congratulations and thank you to all the players.

The 2022 Ignacio Perez Memorial Northwest Chess Grand Prix

Murlin Varner, Counting the Days

The standings this month contain results from seven new tournaments. There were two sets of quads, a tornado, an every-Monday event, the Washington G/60 Championship, and the annual Norman Friedman Memorial. That last one had a 3x multiplier, which helped shuffle the Idaho and "other" lists. Also included in these stats are the results from the Washington Challengers' Cup, with a 2x multiplier, which helped shuffle the Washington standings.

In addition to the above-mentioned Challengers' Cup, November had four other events, with one in Boise and three in the Seattle area. That included the annual Thanksgiving weekend event, the Washington Class Championships, this year with a 5x multiplier. This should give the standings one more good shuffle before the year ends. But wait, there's more!

December has two more multiplier events to finish off the year. Sadly, you have to pick one, because they are both on the same weekend. The Washington Winter Classic is being held in Seattle and Redmond, WA, on December 17 and 18. This event has a 2x multiplier due to its $1100 based-on prize fund. Meanwhile, in Boise, the MexInsurance.com FIDE Open will be conducted December 16-18, with $10,000 guaranteed in the upper section and $5725 in the lower section, based on entries. With that large prize fund, we get to see one last 6x event before the end of the annual Grand Prix contests. December will also have the every-Monday event in Boise and (possibly) the monthly quads and tornado in Seattle.

I have just one more column to write for the Grand Prix, early next year. After 20 years, I am hanging up my eye shade and sleeve garters. Since there were no volunteers to take over, the Grand Prix will end with the end of 2022.

In our hearts, however, we will always think of 2023 as the year of the Gary Dorfner Memorial Grand Prix.

Over the past 20 years, many people have been honored on this page. They include the following: Stephen Christopher (2003-2005), Mike Franett (2006), Clark Harmon (2007-2009), Robert Karch (2010-2011), Ralph Hall (2012), Elena Donaldson (2013-2014), Elmars Zemgalis (2015), Richard Gutman (2016), Neil Dale (2017), John Braley (2018), Glen Buckendorf and Buz Eddy (2019), Mike Neeley (2020), Rusty Miller (the originator of this program) (2021), and Ignacio Perez (2022).
